Alliant Insurance Services continues to expand its Private Client team with the addition of Olya Yepremian, CIC, who joins the firm as Senior Vice President. With nearly two decades of experience advising ultra-high-net-worth clients and their professional advisors, Yepremian brings extensive expertise in risk management, claims advocacy, and wealth protection strategies.

Known for her consultative, relationship-driven approach, Yepremian has built a reputation for helping clients navigate complex personal risk challenges while safeguarding both assets and reputation. Her background in business management and technical risk strategy further strengthens Alliant's ability to deliver tailored guidance to sophisticated clients.

I've always believed this business is built on trust. Clients are making deeply personal and often complex decisions, and they deserve an advisor who listens first and acts in their best interest."
